FLAMENCO DANCERS Jose Greco and Nana Lorca. Greco's dance troupe will perform at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Mississippi River Festival on the Southwestern campus of Southern Illinois University.

2nd GCHS Plan Wins, 473-53

Granite City school district voters, by a vote of 473 to 53 on Saturday, gave the school board permission to construct a second high school. The site will be a 65-acre campus on Maryville Road near Highway 203.

Most of the $3,858,000 cost will come from a Dec. 7, 1968, bond issue authorization. It had been planned to build a combination elementary school and junior high school on the Wein tract, but changes in the enrollment pattern resulted in the altered plan. Instead of being built now for junior high-grade school use and converted later to a high school, the structure will be used from the start as a ninth-through-twelfth grade center.

Margin Almost 9-1
Although only 529 votes were cast in Saturday's special election, the margin of approval was decisive — almost nine-to-one.

The affirmative and negative votes equaled the total turnout except for three ballots — single spoiled votes at each of the Maryville, Parkview and Mitchell Schools.

The Yes-No tallies were as follows:

McKinley 11-3, Lake 6-2, Washington 11-2, Logan 10-1, Emerson 12-0, Webster 32-3, Marshall 27-1, Niedringhaus 73-15, Frohardt 67-0, Maryville 45-4, Wilson 20-2, Nameoki 70-8, Parkway 42-4, Mitchell 37-4 and Stallings, 10-4.

River Festival Audiences To Welcome Jose Greco and Judy Collins During Week

The first Folk-Pop-Rock attractions at the 1971 Mississippi River Festival on Southern Illinois University's Southwestern campus will be Jose Greco & Company, flamenco dancers, at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 13, and Judy Collins, singer of contemporary art songs, at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, July 15.

Mrs. Marilyn Kraynak, 2392 Waterman Ave., wife of Madison County Auditor John Kraynak, was named the winner of a five-day expense-paid vacation to Acapulco, Mexico, at the River Festival's opening night party Saturday at SIU-SW. The opening night attendance was 5,000.

The Granite City resident's name was selected from among thousands of women in the two-state metropolitan area who took part in a series of "Pyramid Parties" to raise MRF funds prior to the start of the 1971 concert series.

Pianist Van Cliburn was skilled but not as inspired as he was as an MRF guest artist previously, some in the initial audience said. The St. Louis Symphony Orchestra won a spontaneous standing ovation Saturday and also was enthusiastically received last night; when Pianist Jeffrey Siegel played classical music from motion pictures.

Greco, born of Spanish-Italian parentage in Italy, has dedicated himself completely to the mi-

Proceeding with the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority airport proposed at Waterloo-Columbia, Ill., is the only way this region can avoid being sidelined from the nation's principal economic growth in the coming decades, Arvon H. Saunders, executive director of the Authority, said Thursday night.

Addressing a quarterly dinner meeting of the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission, held at Belleville, Saunders stressed that "if the St. Louis region is to keep step with the rest of the country—if it is to fulfill its potential—it must have the airport capacity to receive its share of the nation's traffic."

"This is why the quest for a new airport began in the mid-1950s as farsighted St. Louisans realized that Lambert Field would be inadequate to serve future needs. Initial studies favored an Illinois site, but no action was taken.

"This is why since 1968, the city of St. Louis, the state of Illinois and the Federal Aviation Administration have been studying and re-studying the question of the best site for a new major airport for St. Louis."

"This is why Governor Ogilvie submitted and the Illinois legislature passed an enabling act creating the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority," Saunders said.

Board Will Grow To Ten
"In accordance with the new act, Governor Ogilvie appointed five Authority members: William Rader, Mayor of Belleville, Theodore H. Dressel of Lebanon, Erwin A. Hankamer of Columbia, Howard W. Kaseberg of Granite City and Robert B. Lamkin of Watson, who was appointed as chairman."

"Upon passage of an ordinance by the City Council of St. Louis, these five Illinois members will be joined by two and eventually five Missouri members."

"Thus the framework has been created for a unique cooperative effort by a state and a city which will result in a true bi-state organization with equal representation from both states."

"Recognizing the merit of this approach to a complicated problem, the scheduled airlines have given strong endorsement to the plan and submitted letters of intent to enter into contracts for the construction of a new airport."

"But you may say, is a new approach really necessary? What's wrong with Lambert Field? Why can't Lambert improve its facilities?"

Lambert Cannot Grow
"The answer is that Lambert has no room for expansion," Saunders asserted.

"As Mayor Cervantes so graphically demonstrated in the last 'state of the city' address, enlargement of Lambert Field to accommodate FAA recommended parallel runways, one mile apart, is economically unfeasible."

"Lambert Field is ringed by important roads, residential housing and major industries. Enlargement of the field would eliminate homes for more than 50,000 persons. Expansion to the north and only displacement of McDonnell-Douglas and a number of other major firms, but it would eliminate the livelihood of thousands of area residents."

"The improvements now under way at Lambert Field are only a drop in the bucket compared to the $1 billion needed for a new airport."

Blend of Fire, Ice
Since organizing his own company, Greco has become known in Europe, Britain, and the United States, as a dancer who critics have said "blends fire and ice."

He has appeared in the Michael Todd production, "Around the World in 80 Days," and more recently in the Columbia Pictures' production, "Ship of Fools."

Greco has combined his company with Nana Lorca's Flamenco Dance Theater, a troupe of great stature in Spain, to create a versatile company.

Miss Lorca is equally accomplished in both the Spanish classic and Flamenco dances and serves as prima ballerina with the company and co-star with Greco.

WHICH ONE HOLDS the CURE
Recovery from illness begins at some point after prescribed medication is started. Perhaps not immediately, but a time comes when the turning point is reached, and medicine overcomes the infection.
Which dose of medicine starts the cure? No one knows. It is wise, therefore, to take each dose exactly as directed.

1931 Relief

confident that prosperity was "just around the corner."
Aside from the pall of depression, 1930 brought forth no extraordinary events.
In January, the First Presbyterian congregation dedicated a new church; in March, the park board paid $75,000 for the Twenty-Fourth Street tracks and right-of-way of the Granite City and Madison Belt Line.
In June, Hayward Niedringhaus, son of George W., was elected president of Granite City Steel Co.; and in July, Howard Eggle and Junior Gasparovic, bent on establishing a new tree-sitting endurance record, ensconced themselves resolutely in a huge cottonwood. The opening of school on September 5 forced them to come down.

Mayor Kirkpatrick's committee was extending aid to 2,000 persons by April 1931. Unemployment was now epidemic. Despite the mayor's urgent appeals, relief contributions soon fell short of the minimum required for mere subsistence and, in July, the committee was compelled to cease work.
The Commonwealth Plant, a pillar of local economy, shut down two months later, remaining idle until February 1934.

To lessen the immediate blow, General Steel Castings Corp. bought a huge stock of groceries and permitted each veteran employee to purchase $4 worth weekly on credit.
Councilmen scraped the bottom of the city treasury on Sept. 8, 1931, to provide $1,500 for work relief, in view of existing distress, this was commensurate.

Cries for reductions of governmental expenses called forth the Dollar-A-Year Party and its radical platform: an annual salary of $1 for each elective official.
Voters thought this too drastic and Dollar-A-Year parable to fighting a forest fire with a garden hose.

Sixty representatives of local organizations met with the City Council on Sept. 18, 1931, and formulated plans to alleviate community-wide distress. Central Relief Agency was established, with Mayor Kirkpatrick as chairman, and a charity drive was launched to obtain $100,000.
Only $21,000 was subscribed, but it tested out a local relief office of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission was opened in June 1932. The number of indigent families rose, meanwhile, from 486 to 800.

Prof. L. P. Frohman, school superintendent since the founding of Granite City, resigned that office in May 1931.
Under his guidance, the number of schools had grown from one to nine, the enrollment from 30 to 6,712.
A. Latouche, in Madison County, Granite City had been super-imposed on sections of Venice and Nameoki Townships. Consequently, the city was subject to unequal rates of taxation and slip representation or the County Board of Supervisors.
On May 12, 1932, the City Council passed a resolution to convert Granite City into a separate township.

Though the county board had perforce to adopt the resolution, some members employed obstructionist tactics and creation of the new township was delayed until September 1932.
The depression reached its nadir in 1933. Supply and demand stood at crazy extremes. Land, labor and goods were cheap and plentiful, money scarce and dear.
School teachers, firemen, and policemen received severe salary cuts; the St. Louis Coke and Iron Corp. went bankrupt and $113,670 worth of property in Granite City was forfeited for nonpayment of taxes.

Johnson Infant Dies At Age Four Months

Jimmy Ray Johnson, 4-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ray (Dung Truong) Johnson, 4191 Revell Drive, died at 12:55 a.m. Sunday at Cardinal Glennon Hospital of a liver ailment. He had been a hospital patient 30 days.
He was born in San Antonio, Texas.
Other than his parents, he is survived by a brother, Billy Ray Johnson Jr., and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Estie Freeze of Granite City. Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

candidates were defeated in the April elections.
City finances were badly out of joint. Assumed indebtedness totaled $88,000 in 1933, and bonded indebtedness $47,000.
Revenues shrank alarmingly as tax delinquencies and property forfeitures increased. To remedy what City Comptroller Carroll Wright described as a "desperate situation," administration of municipal finances was entrusted to a board composed of the seven largest taxpayers.
The board slashed operating expenses to an absolute minimum and established various catch-penny devices, such as central purchasing and inflexible monthly budgets.

The First Granite City National Bank reopened immediately after the banking holiday in February 1933; the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank was closed until August, when depositors agreed to waive part of their accounts. The bank returned 20% of the waiver in May 1933. Repayments were made regularly thereafter and, by April 1940, all claims had been satisfied.

Fame on relief numbered 1,600 in 1933. Several hundred men got temporarily employment with the Civil Works Administration in autumn, but private industry was unable to rehire workers the year long.
American Legion huntsmen beat nearby fields in December to obtain meat for Christmas dinners of "deserving unemployed families." They bagged 445 rabbits which were distributed on Christmas Eve.
Fire gutted St. John's Evangelical and Reformed Church on Aug. 19, 1934. The shell was torn down and replaced by a $20,000 basement structure dedicated on Dec. 8, 1935.

James G. McRoberts, first mayor of Granite City, died in St. Louis in February 1935.
Other pioneer residents who died in the thirties were Thomas Barco (September 1932), Mark Henson (December 1932), J. E. Mithrop (January 1934) and William Champion (July 1936).

"The runway capacity of Lambert is being exceeded today."
"Add to that the fact that the airlines and the FAA predict a slightly higher, than average growth rate for St. Louis in air-line passengers compared to other major U. S. cities."
"Unless a completely new and large airport is constructed here by then, severe overcrowding of terminal, airfield and highway access will curtail air service to the area and stifle the economy of the entire region."

"The FAA administrator has emphasized that the possibility of short-takeoff-and-landing (STOL) aircraft in the future does not negate the findings of a number of studies—made by St. Louis airport officials—have to be developed. STOL does not change these basic findings."
This is why the recent airport site selection announcement is so important to the economic future of the entire area.
"The site selection was the result of painstaking study and effort on the part of the airport board and its consultants and extensive coordination with the FAA."

Convenience, Cost
"In terms of convenience to travelers, minimal dislocation of families and business, impact on the environment, air space and site development costs, in my opinion—based on more than 30 years in aviation—the Waterloo-Columbia site is clearly the superior location in the metropolitan region."

"In my opinion, the new St. Louis airport will be built in Illinois or it will not be built, and that would be tragic."
"This is in the nature of a forced only, certainly not an ultimatum. Obviously, the new Authority has only the power of persuasion in this matter."
"Fortunately, the Authority does have the financial capability to build the airport."

"Last year, Congress passed the Airport and Airways Development Act providing $380 million each year for airport development. Last month, the Illinois legislature passed the Transportation Bond Act providing $15 million for airport land acquisition here."
"All this and more will be needed to keep up with the anticipated growth of aviation. Today, 75% of all inter-city public transportation is lost out by the airlines," the speaker reported.
"Passengers between the U. S. and foreign countries are even more air-minded—90% of this traffic is carried by airlines."

of persons will benefit from the facility does not make the project any easier for those who feel themselves directly involved, and we are more sympathetic to the people whose land will be taken by the airport.
"But the circulation of extravagant estimates of the number of people and industries to be drawn to the site has made it more difficult for them and everyone else involved."
"The airport is not an industrial developer for itself. Its role is to develop a whole region. Congestion comes to the airport not because of development from the airport itself, but because growth of the city overstates the airport," Saunders comments.

Cincinnati Example
"All of the fears now expressed in St. Louis about an Illinois airport were heard in Cincinnati. Yet, 24 years later, Cincinnati, Ohio, has not migrated across the river into Kentucky, but instead the entire two-state region has prospered."
Downtown Cincinnati is vibrant with redevelopment and renewal. A new stadium and convention center stand by the river. And the region has the ability to expand its air traffic.
"The airport in Kentucky has had a great deal to do with the redevelopment of downtown Cincinnati, as an Illinois airport would do for downtown St. Louis and East St. Louis."

"We have the framework to make St. Louis an even greater transportation center of the nation."
"We have the opportunity to provide a new airport for the whole region, for the revitalization of downtown areas in St. Louis and East St. Louis for many new developments of various types and purposes which will add greatly to the social and economic health of the region."

Best Planned Ever
"The new airport will probably be the most thoroughly planned in history. It will reflect the latest state of the art in all respects."
"It will take into account all environmental factors so that it will be a good neighbor—actually improving some environmental qualities such as water control in its carefully-planned manner."
"Big as it will be at the beginning, it will provide adequate room for expansion of facilities to provide for traffic beyond the year 2000, almost the foreseeable future."

"Its design will stress 'restraint free access,' which means the ability of both passengers and aircraft to enter and leave with little or no delay, so there will be no stacking of airplanes or autos."
"Its terminal will stress simplicity with functional non-monumental facilities."
The new St. Louis airport will be a model facility of which we all can be proud. "More important, it will be the vehicle by which the economic health and well-being of our two-state region can be assured," he concluded.

Personal Tax

include all family-owned personal property of business and commercial firms not established as corporations and bank shares. Corporate business and industry would have been subject to the tax.
Hilt was expected to call all township assessors to a meeting early this week to outline the effects of the court ruling on the assessment schedule for the 1971 year. Under state law personal property assessment books are supposed to be completed and turned over to the review board by June 1. Real estate, with the exception of additions and improvements, is assessed every four years in what is termed a quadrennial assessment. Such a quadrennial real estate assessment is being made this year. It entails a re-assessment of all real estate property.

Plan Crash Program
Barton said that he contemplates a "crash program" to reassess personal property that has not been evaluated this year because of abolishment of the tax. "Even then it will take a week to get started and will take at least a month to notify all individuals, get their assessment schedules and revise the books," Barton said, adding that "I don't know what we can tell the people... the assessment and tax program has been a regular merry-go-round and it doesn't seem as if it ever will stop."

The Supreme Court decision was based on a suit filed in circuit court of Cook County by Lakeshore Auto Parts. The circuit court held after a hearing of the proceedings that collection of personal property taxes from corporations was unconstitutional. The high court went further, however, in holding that personal taxes on individuals alone cannot be abolished if a similar tax on industry is retained.

The voters last November approved ratification of the amendment on the tax abolishment by a margin of 7 to 1. At Springfield, Gov. Ogilvie said he was startled by the court's ruling and "I am distressed that the personal property tax again has been imposed on individuals."
"I thought we had won the fight last fall," the governor said.

plicity with functional non-monumental facilities.
The new St. Louis airport will be a model facility of which we all can be proud. "More important, it will be the vehicle by which the economic health and well-being of our two-state region can be assured," he concluded.

Six-Century-Old Indian Farm Village Sought by Students

Olin Works property in East Alton has been selected as the site of archaeological excavations to be made by the Department of Anthropology at Southern Illinois University's Southwestern campus. Anthropology instructors expect to find the remains of a small Indian farming village existing there 600 to 1,000 years ago.

The excavation site is at the far northeast corner of Olin property, barely inside the East Alton city limits and near the west end of Pence Avenue in Rosewood Heights.

The excavations will cover parts of two acres on a slight hill beside the east fork of Wood River Creek.

Shallow Excavations
Initial efforts involve searching plowed areas for concentrations of debris. A few ancient heads and more commonplace artifacts have been found. Actual excavations are expected to be shallow, to a depth of only two or three feet.

SIU-SW Anthropology Instructor Sidney G. Denny says archaeological interest in the site stems from previous limited studies, indicating it once was a small village allied with Cahokia between 1000 and 1300 A.D.

Denny relates a similar site was excavated last summer on the SIU-SW campus. Further significance and evidence of a specialized form of settlement pattern is expected to be obtained from excavation of the Olin property site, a greater distance from Cahokia.

The study is expected to assist in the training of archaeological students in field methods, as well as advance the understanding of prehistoric peoples of this area.

City Zoning Board Approves Subdivision

The Granite City Plan Commission, meeting Thursday afternoon, denied requests for special use permits for a day care center and a law office and approved the preliminary plans of a subdivision outside of the corporate limits as a courtesy measure.

Denied were requests by Mrs. Murrell J. Polivich to operate a day care center at 2333 Cleveland Blvd., and by James F. Thebeau Jr. to establish a law office at 2225 Pontoon Road.

A preliminary plan for a subdivision along Maryville Road, north of St. Clair Avenue, near Worthen Park, was approved, though the planned project is one and one-half miles north of the corporate limits of the city.

The courtesy approval by the local board followed approval by the Park Board and the Madison County Board of Zoning Appeals. If approved by the East Side Levee and Sanitary District, the owner, Morris Investment Co., could begin final planning for the subdivision, to be called Town & Country East number 3.

Mini Garden Information Center at GC Public Library to be Dedicated

Mrs. Byrne A. Jackson of Chicago, State Garden Center chairman for the Garden Clubs of Illinois Inc., will formally dedicate the "Mini Garden Information Center," located at the Granite City Public Library, at 11 a.m. Thursday.

The local garden information center is sponsored and maintained by the Gardenaires Club of Granite City.

In conjunction with the dedication ceremony will be a display of 150 pieces of horticultural and educational material, donated by the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service, for use in the local library's garden advisory center.

The donation marks the first time the University of Illinois has contributed material of this nature to a public library, according to Mrs. Earl Glenn, Garden Center chairman for the local club.

The Gardenaires officer stated, "If the project here proves successful it will initiate a program through which the university will donate additional material to libraries throughout the state for use by garden club members and the general public."

Another interesting item on exhibition at the library Thursday will be a display of the National Council's objective—the Blue Star Memorial Highway, Mrs. Glenn reported. The display is being arranged by Mrs. S. P. Shear of Belleville, state Blue Star chairman.

Special guests expected to attend Thursday's dedication include Wayne Siefert, area advisor and Press-Record columnist in ornamental horticulture from the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service who maintains offices in Edwardsville; Mrs. Henry Heber, District V director, Mascoutah; Miss Lucille MacLeod, a member of the Granite City Library board of trustees; Mrs. Gerald Walters, assistant librarian at the local library; and Byrne A. Jackson, Chicago.

Officials and members of the Gardenaires planning to be present at the ceremony are Mrs. A. A. Malottki Jr., club president; Mrs. C. E. Eads, vice president; Mrs. Charles Kohl, Mrs. Abe J. Shannon, Mrs. Alex Tarpoff, Mrs. John Farrell, Mrs. Jerry Arbeiter, Mrs. Mary Kristian, Mrs. Cecil Williams, Mrs. William Long and Mrs. Glenn, Mini Garden Information Center chairman and Environmental Improvement Program chairman for the Garden Clubs of Illinois Inc.

Miss Jubilee American Bicentennial Contest Plan Will Last All of 1976 Meeting Set

By JOE BROOKS
Copley News Service

America will celebrate its 200th anniversary in 1976. The bicentennial will be a year-long event, both a look backward at the ideals for which the American Revolution was fought and a look ahead toward the advancement of human welfare as the nation moves into its third century.

That is the goal of the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission, which is planning the observance under a mandate from Congress. "Where is the bicentennial going to be?" asks Commission Chairman David J. Mahoney. "The bicentennial will be everywhere, all across the United States."

Mahoney told a news conference in San Francisco that the commission is planning a series of regional meetings in every section of the country to encourage cities, towns and states to become involved in the observance. "Every state, from the original 13 Colonies to the newest states of Alaska and Hawaii, has contributed to the American heritage, and thus each should join in celebrating the nation's 200th anniversary," he said.

The commission is planning three components for the bicentennial:

1. Heritage '76—a nationwide summons to recall the country's heritage and to place it in its historical perspective. To accomplish this, the commission is asking all groups in the nation to reexamine the origins, the values and the meaning of America and to dramatize its development. A major part of Heritage '76 will be played by cities which had a key role in the early development of America, such as Philadelphia, Boston and Washington, D.C.

2. Open House U.S.A. This will be a nationwide effort to stimulate travel to various parts of the country and to encourage visitors to America from other nations.

3. Horizons '76. This component of the observance is a challenge from the commission to every American to undertake at least "one principal project which manifests the pride, the priorities and the hopes of his community."

"Just as our forebears were faced with a series of movements into the unknown—at first across seas to a new land, later over the plains and mountains of that land and still later through the moving frontiers of America, in technology, in education, in science and in space—we too, as we approach our nation's 200th anniversary are faced with a movement into the unknown," Mahoney told a meeting of the commission.

"Just as our ancestors had no guidelines, for no nation was ever built at such a pace and with such dynamism, we have none."

"This is because, as with them, no nation has dared to move into the unknown with such intensity."

"Just as it was their hope of building a new and better society, it must be ours now."

As part of the Open House U.S.A. component, the commission has made these recommendations for key cities in the nation:

—The National Capital Region: To mark the actual and symbolic importance of our national capital, special emphasis should be placed on the renewal of Washington, D.C., with the objective of making it a worthy example of what a successful quest for life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness can produce.

—Boston: To tell the continuing story of liberty as it is developing in the United States, Boston should develop a program to explore and examine the revolutionary roots of America through its great historical resources.

—Philadelphia: To recognize that America is the product of many foreign lands, institutions and peoples, Philadelphia should commit itself to an exposition which will have commemorative, historical emphasis rather than commercial.

The commission noted that the Bureau of International Expositions has sanctioned an exposition in Philadelphia in 1976. Miami should complete its permanent Trade and Cultural Center by 1976 as part of the bicentennial observance.

Partee, Blair Seen as Effective Leaders During Spring State Legislative Session

By KEN WATSON
Copley News Service

Springfield — Leadership of the regular session of the 77th Illinois General Assembly turned out to be better than expected.

There had been grim predictions at the Statehouse early in the year that the new corps of leaders thrust into the forefront to replace well-established veterans might not be up to the job.

However, a review of the record and workings of the six-month session shows conclusively that the new breed was not only capable, but was remarkably successful in all the old arts of legislative maneuvering—the kind which produces results.

They knew, or quickly learned, how to compromise and—as a result—just about everyone of consequence is happy about the results of the session, including Republican Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie and Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley.

It was in the main, a productive session. What deadlocks there were cannot in all fairness be blamed on the leadership, Republican or Democratic. In fact, it is little short of amazing that—with legislative power balanced so equally between the parties —so much was accomplished.

Neither side ever had enough votes on its own to pass a bill in the Senate. And, although Republicans started out with one to spare in the House, illness soon erased this margin.

Compromise was necessary and this had to be done, through the leadership of the parties. Perhaps the single most outstanding member of the session was Cecil A. Partee, Chicago Democrat and Senate president pro tem or majority leader.

Partee was on the hot spot on two accounts. He had to follow in the footsteps of Republican Sen. W. Russell Arrington of Evanston, probably one of the most creative and constructive men ever to fill that post in Illinois. Partee was also the first black ever to reach such a position of importance in any major state.

He is universally credited at the Capitol with doing a fair and efficient job of heading the Senate.

From a political standpoint, he did a good job in fulfilling the traditional Democratic legislative role as a lieutenant for the party's leader, Mayor Daley. But probably the biggest leadership surprise of the session was House Speaker W. Robert Blair, Park Forest Republican.

Many Statehouse cynics thought in January that young Blair, 40, would "blow it." His well-known temper did flare on occasions and he did make some people angry.

But on the basis of accomplishment Blair did a good job. Few missed his predecessor, veteran Ralph T. Smith of Alton.

His critics for the most part were outside the ranks of House members themselves. Like Partee, Blair has received good marks for fairness and objectivity.

Although there was the usual public bluster, he appears to have had a good working relationship with the Democratic floor leader.

er, Clyde L. Choate of Anna.

It was hard negotiating between Blair and Choate which produced the biggest single accomplishment of the session, passage of the governor's $900 million transportation and highway package.

Choate, like Ogilvie and Daley, had more than casual interest in the legislation. He was quick to point out that enactment of the bill will mean a big boon to his Southern Illinois area, the long-anticipated Rockford-to-Cairo superhighway.

Blair, for his part, has long been active in transportation-highway legislation. He shepherded through the 1969 session head through the 1969 session the $2 billion highway plan, later ruled unconstitutional by the Illinois Supreme Court.

John Sheehan, 61, Found Dead at Home

John Sheehan, 61, of 1347 Grand Ave., an employee of General Steel Industries, was pronounced dead at home at 7 p.m. Thursday by Ray Thomas, deputy coroner.

Mr. Sheehan was found by a neighbor, Paul Georgeff, 1947 Grand Ave., who went to his home to investigate after not seeing him for a day and a half.

He was a welder for the past 20 years at General Steel and had been on sick leave four months. Born in St. Louis, Mr. Sheehan was 41 of his life.

Mr. Sheehan was an Army veteran of world war II, served as a machine gunner on overseas duty in Germany. He was a member of the VFW Post 1540 of Jennings, Mo., and the Bolshackers Union.

Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Edward (Greta) M. O'Connor, 41, of St. Louis.

Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

June Parking Meter Collection Down

Parking meter fees and fines during June totaled $3,391, well below the $5,295 collected in May and the June 1970 collection of $4,211, according to the office of Robert W. Stevens, city clerk.

Of the total collections last month, $2,950 was in fees and $381 was collected in fines. The collections bring the total for the year to $23,077, slightly more than the total for the first six months of 1970 in which $22,545 was collected.

Meters operated 26 days last month and revenue averaged $151 per day, compared to $212 per day in May and $182 per day in June 1970.

Lipsett Steel Fined $6,000 in Pollution Case

A fine of $6,000 and an order to cease and desist in open burning for salvage purposes was levied against Lipsett Steel Products, Inc. of Granite City Thursday afternoon by the Illinois Pollution Control Board, during a meeting in Belleville.

In another case, the board issued a cease and desist order against the M.S. Kaplan Co., which levied no fine because the company had stopped open burning of boxcars for salvage before a deadline set by the board.

The board voted three to two to impose the fine against the Lipsett firm. It involved $1,000 of each six instances of open burning of railroad boxcars. Board Member Richard J. Kissel opposed the fine, however, noting that the company had been making good faith efforts to find a method for recycling materials from the salvage of box cars.

A case against the M.S. Kaplan Co. was initiated by the Environmental Protection Agency last March. The EPA charged the company with pollution by open burning for salvage of railroad cars.

In another action, the board voted unanimously to fine the city of East St. Louis $200 for violations involving discharge of inadequately treated sewage into the Mississippi River.

Board Chairman David Currie recommended a fine of $500, which he described as nominal because he was aware of the city's financial plight. Board Member Jacob Dammelle of Chicago moved the fine be further reduced and the board concurred.

Miss Susan Yates became the bride of John Wayne Alford Saturday evening at Second Baptist Church.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. B. E. Dutton, church pastor, assisted by the Rev. W. L. Showers.

Regional Plan Proposed For Orally Deaf Pupils

A comprehensive redistricting plan involving pupils in special education programs for the deaf and hard of hearing in a 14-15 county area has been adopted by the Bi-County Parent's Group for Deaf and Hard of Hearing Children.

The proposal, to be submitted to Dr. Michael Bakalis, state superintendent of Public Instruction, calls for an initial study to start this fall with the program to be fully implemented in the 1972-73 school year.

Cooperation in formulating redistricting plans for orally deaf students was sought from area parents' groups by the state school superintendent last month, Steve Gargac said.

Gargac said the Collinsville site proposed for the central facility was selected due to construction of a new elementary school into which the special education facility could be incorporated.

Support for the regional plan is now being sought by the parents at the Special Education, Region I offices, 2800 Madison Ave., to discuss and vote on the proposal, Gargac said.

He noted that the proposed redistricting would completely change the direction of the present program for orally deaf students from a two-county operation to a cohesive program.

About 50 parents and special education teachers met Friday evening at the Special Education, Region I offices, 2800 Madison Ave., to discuss and vote on the proposal, Gargac said.

48 To Be Laid Off By Bi-State Transit

Forty-eight employees of Bi-State Transit System — 39 of them bus drivers — are to be laid off in an economy move, according to a company spokesman. Most of the layoffs will become effective July 15.

Loss of two school district transportation contracts in Granite City and the Effleur district in St. Louis county are partially responsible for economic conditions that made the work force reduction necessary.

Layoffs in other area firms also contribute to the problem, the spokesman said. "People out of jobs don't ride buses and from work and their families make a few fewer shopping trips," he said. The loss of the two school bus contracts resulted in a loss of $800,000.

Walker Begins 'Walking' Tour in Bid for Governor

Dan Walker, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, began walking the length of the state of Illinois Friday in his campaign to take his candidacy to the people.

Walker, 48, was accompanied by two of his sons, Dan Jr., 21, and Charles, 16. Granite City is included on his itinerary.

Announcement of the campaign tour was made Thursday at a news conference at the Sherman House in Chicago, attended by Walker, his two sons and U.S. Sen. Lawton J. Chiles (D-Fla.), who won a six-man primary race in Florida in 1970 and went on to an upset win in the general election.

The walk began Friday in the center of the Paducah, Ky., bridge over the Ohio River which connects Kentucky to Illinois. The walk will end in October in Chicago.

Sen. Chiles, who has been mentioned as a possible Vice-Presidential candidate and is a long time friend of Walker's, attended the news conference to describe his experiences about his walk. Chiles said:

"Suggested Walking Tour

"When Dan told me he was running for Governor, I suggested he consider this walking tour of Illinois. I told him about my walk through the state of Florida—what a tremendous experience it was and how I felt when I really got to know what the people were talking about and what their hopes and aspirations are.

"I am convinced that no man, no matter how good his intentions, can represent the people of his state unless he knows what they want, and the only way we can tell this out is by going to them and not by conducting polls and riding in planes from press conference to press conference."

In all, the walk will cover somewhere between 750 and 1,000 miles. The route planned to far will take Walker through East St. Louis and will cover approximately 340 miles. The route will take him through Massac, Pope, Hardin, Gallatin, Saline, Williamson, Jackson, Franklin, Jefferson, Marion, St. Clair and Madison counties.

The major cities that Walker will campaign in include Brookport, Shawneetown, Harrisburg, Carbondale, DuQuoin, West Frankfort, Benton, Mount Vernon, Centerville, East St. Louis, Alton, Collinsville, and Granite City.

Divorces Granted To Four Couples

A divorce has been granted to Mary Abel from Leo Abel, both of Granite City, in a contested five-day trial in the Court of Circuit Judge James O. Monroe.

They were married Feb. 12, 1971, at Hot Springs, Ark., and separated on March 24. Mental cruelty was charged. Her former name of Mary Reget was restored.

A second complaint filed for Mrs. Abel for an annulment was denied by the court, as was a counter-complaint for Abel.

The court found that Abel "had no right to any of the property either now fully owned by her or hereafter to be acquired from the estate of her late husband or from any other source."

Judy Sanders of Granite City was granted a divorce from Robert A. Sanders of Beloit, Wis. They were married Feb. 14, 1971, in Granite City and separated in April. Mental cruelty was charged. Her maiden name of Judy Kariechick was restored.

Lorine Helen Campbell of Granite City received a divorce from Howard E. Campbell of Louisville, Ky. They were married Sept. 3, 1966, and separated June 15, 1970. Mental cruelty was charged. Her former name of Lorine Menzies was restored.

Preliminary Planning for SIU-SW Dental School Endorsed by State, Gateway Council

Endorsement of preliminary plans for the permanent facility of the Southern Illinois University School of Dental Medicine at Southwestern campus, has been received from the Illinois State Clearinghouse and the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, the federal government regional clearinghouse.

Dr. Frank J. Sobkowski, Dean of the SIU School of Dental Medicine, said that this positive action will allow the University to proceed with its plans to apply for federal funding for the structure. A new School like Southwestern can receive up to two-thirds of the construction costs from the federal government.

Interim facilities for the School are at the SIU Alton Center. However, that site will only accommodate an annual class size of 24 students in the fall.

Janis Patrick of Edwardsville was divorced from Michael Patrick of Granite City and Edwardsville. They were married Nov. 28, 1964, in Edwardsville and separated May 10, 1970. Cruelty was charged. Custody of two children was given to the mother, and the father is to pay child support of $68 every two weeks.

The proposed building at Edwardsville would permit the School to accept 64 students annually in the Doctor of Dental Medicine program, and enroll numerous other students in related programs.

In the letter from Dr. Ronald D. Mickelson, State Clearinghouse Coordinator, he states, "It has been determined that your proposal is consistent with the policies and objectives of the State of Illinois in this particular area. Thus, we offer no objections. . . we trust this indication will assist you in obtaining the necessary federal assistance."

Eugene G. Moody, executive director of East-West said, "The Council's Board of Directors, acting in its capacity as the metropolitan clearinghouse, reviewed and endorsed the subject application as being consistent with area wide planning."

The Council asked that its affiliated agency, Alliance for Regional Community Health (ARCH) be given the opportunity to review the final application.

Additional support for the building proposal has come to the Council from the Southwest-

SOCIETY

Couple Exchanges Vows At 1st Assembly of God

First Assembly of God Church was the scene of the wedding Saturday evening of Miss Doreen Lakin and Richard Klekamp.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Lakin, 2533 State St. Mr. Klekamp was reared from infancy by his grandmother, Mrs. Marceline Jung, 3204 Aubrey Ave. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Klekamp, are both deceased.

The Rev. Elmer L. Fenton, pastor of a United Methodist Church in Caseyville, and a great-uncle of the bride, officiated at 7:30 o'clock. The double ring ceremony was used.

Arrangements of pink and white gladioli and greenery adorned the sanctuary, and white lighted with burning candles in candelabra.

Mrs. Dolores Mount, an aunt of the bride, vocalist, accompanied at the organ by Miss Gail Fenton, the bride's cousin, sang "Twelfth of Never" and the Lord's Prayer.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a Victorian gown of white organza with a high collar, the Irish lace. The Empire waist, with a drop shoulder effect, was designed with a row of lace at the waist, across the shoulders and extending into the long, full sleeves which ended in wide cuffs of Irish lace.

A double row of lace enhanced the front of the skirt and a detachable train was trimmed with three rows of lace and secured at the waist with a pink bow. A triple tiered shoulder-length veil of silk illusion was held in place with a profile of orange blossoms. A colonial bouquet of pink rosebuds and white daisies was carried by Saturday's bride.

The attendants, Mrs. Vicki Hogan, the bride's sister, matron of honor, and Miss Jaimese Louis, Miss Cheryl Haynes and Miss Pamela Mount, the bride's cousin, bridesmaids, wore identical gowns of pink cotton organza, the Empire waists emphasized with lime green velvet ribbon.

The square necklines and the bodices were embroidered with green and the same trim was repeated on the wide cuffs of the long sleeves. Headpieces were of green velvet ribbon and the attendants carried pink starlike flowers and greenery in wicker baskets tied with green ribbon streamers.

A little flower girl, Vicki Jeklin of LaSalle, Ill., the bride's cousin, dressed like the bride, carried a small basket of mini rosebuds. Timmy and Jane Hogan, twin nephews of the bride, served as ring bearers.

Gary Willis was best man and Kelly Hogan, a brother-in-law of the bride, Larry Lakin, a brother of the bride, Wally Jung, the bridegroom's cousin, Jesse Wense, a brother-in-law, and Roger Fenton, the bride's cousin, made up the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Lakin chose a dress of pink organza with long sleeves of lace, the bodice laced in front with self ribbon, and matching accessories. The bridegroom's grandmother wore an orchid ensemble accented with white accessories. Both were worn.

The wedding reception was held at the VFW Hall. The newweds will make their home in Granite City.

Both young people graduated from the Granite City High School and the former Miss LaSalle is now attending SIU-SW where she is on the yearbook staff. Mr. Klekamp is employed by the Granite City Steel Co.

The rehearsal dinner was given Friday evening by the bridegroom's sisters, Mrs. Kenneth Spalding, Mrs. George Williams and Mrs. Jesse Wense, at the Spalding home.

Those participating are to meet at the Arlington Club pavilion at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday. Reservations can be made to day by calling Mrs. Ginevieve Grady at 576-1707 or Mrs. Marzluft, at 432-1337.

RETURN FROM SOUTH

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Lucas and daughters, Debra and Kendal, have returned from a vacation trip in Greenville, Tenn. They were houseguests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lucas, Mrs. Nova Lucas and daughter, Kendal, accompanied by Mrs. Clyde Lucas and Mrs. Marie Lucas and daughters of Aurora, Ill., motored to Gatlinburg, Tenn., for a two-day visit, and the local residents also were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Stanley in Dover, Tenn.

Miss Catherine V. Hahn, Spec. David Welborn Wed

The wedding of Miss Catherine V. Hahn, a daughter of Mrs. Ernestine Hahn, 2415 Hodges Ave., and Specialist Five David Richard Welborn, U. S. Army, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Divietro, 2804 Dale Ave., took place Saturday at Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

The Rev. Joseph Enright officiated at the 12 noon ceremony before the altar decorated with arrangements of white summer flowers.

A gown of white silk organza was worn by the bride. It was styled with the Empire bodice trimmed with Venice lace, an oval neckline and elbow-length sleeves. A slim A-line skirt was formed of tiers of organza cascading into a brief brush train. A cluster of imported lace petals, outlined with tiny seed pearls, secured the bride's short, bouffant veil of illusion and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and lilies of the valley.

Miss Rose Marie Hahn, the bride's sister, was matron of honor, and another sister, Mrs. Marjanne James of Colorado Springs, Colo., and Pauline Dekossett, were bridesmaids.

They were dressed alike in gowns of powder blue corded organza with scoop necks and gathered Empire bodices embroidered and trimmed with bows at the back waistlines. Sheer bows with matching satin centers served as headpieces. Their flowers were white carnations.

Lori and Kevin Lehman, niece and nephew of the bridegroom, served as flower girl and ring bearer. The former was dressed like the older attendants.

The bridegroom had his brother, Lee Welborn, as best man, and Steve James, a brother-in-law, Larry Lehman, another brother, and the bride's brother, and Marshall Campbell made up the list of groomsmen and ushers.

A reception for about 200 guests was held at Central Christian Church, 2020 Johnson Road, and the newlyweds left afterward for a honeymoon, the destination of which was not disclosed. When they return they will reside at 1926 Edgewood Road.

The former Miss Hahn, a nurse employed at St. Elizabeth Hospital, graduated from the Granite City High School and St. Joseph Hospital School of Nursing in Alton.

The bridegroom, also a local high school graduate, will be discharged Aug. 11 from the U. S. Army.

The Handlon girl was reported in fair condition in the intensive care unit following treatment for facial abrasions, contusions of both legs and pains in the left elbow, chest and left side of the abdomen.

A series of x-rays was taken. The Hessel boy was in fair condition following treatment for lacerations to left leg, abrasions to the left arm and pains in the left hip. X-rays were taken.

The children were thrown 12 feet from the point of impact, police said. The auto was headed east on St. Clair and the bicycle entered the intersection from National.

Leading Offices of Credit Union Chapter Held by Granite Cityans

Many local residents are prominent in the Illinois credit union movement, which has grown from nine unions with 2,500 members in 1926 to 1,065 with 1,161,330 members as of Dec. 31, 1970.

The 1,685 credit unions have assets of $798,000,000 and loans totaling $359,000,000.

A starting point in discussing credit unions would be to describe what they are. The Illinois Credit Union League says it this way:

"A credit union is a group of people who agree to save their money together and to make loans to each other at low interest."

"It is organized by members of a particular group—for instance, people working for the same employer, people who belong to the same fraternal order, church or labor union; or people who live in the same closely knit community."

"Credit unions are democratic; the members elect their own officers and committee men and set policies for the credit union annually."

"Members are encouraged to save regularly. Savings are shares in the credit union. From this accumulated capital, loans are made to members for any good purpose at low interest."

"Any earnings remaining after expenses are paid and legal reserves are set aside are returned to the members in the form of dividends on their savings."

A group belonging to the Illinois Credit Union League is automatically a member of one of its 29 chapters, which hold monthly meetings to share ideas, experiences and special programs.

The Southern Illinois chapter, extending from the west to the east coast of the state, is the farthest south except for the Egyptian chapter.

Its territory includes the southern part of Madison County, plus St. Clair, Monroe, Randolph, Clinton, Washington, Marion, Jefferson, Clay, Wayne, Richmond, Edwards, Lawrence and Wabash Counties.

The Southern Illinois chapter has 72 credit unions with 45,136 members.

Members' share balance is $27,863,064 and members' loan balance is $25,182,802. Total reserves in the chapter have reached $3,609,796 and assets amount to $32,325,669.

A listing of who's who in the Illinois Credit Union League includes the seven Southern Illinois officers:

President, Maurice Logan, first vice-president, Joseph Lucido, and second vice-president, Lionel Portell, all of Granite City; third vice-president, George Jentsch, East St. Louis; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Ruby L. Parkson, Granite City; policy officer, William A. Zieffle, Belleville; and field representative, William A. Tarris, Granite City. Logan and Zieffle are among five residents of District Nine serving on the 42-member Illinois Credit Union League board of directors. Of these 42, T. J. Heffernan of Chicago is state president, Edward C. Feldman of Peoria is first vice-president and Henry R. Koopman of Harvey is second vice-president.

Personal Property Tax Reinstated by State Supreme Court But Some Exemptions Remain

Few things are as certain as taxes, including personal property taxes in Illinois.

The personal property tax has a new lease on life, easing some of the financial squeeze facing school districts, cities and other local-level governmental agencies. An initial estimate is that $450 million annually will be reinstated.

The Illinois Supreme Court decided Friday that the November 1970 statewide election abolishing the personal property tax on individuals violated the equal protection clause of the U. S. Constitution's 14th Amendment by creating a situation in which a tax was not uniformly applied. On the same basis, the top court reversed Cook County Circuit Judge Walter Dahl's March 1971 finding that the state referendum, the personal tax on corporations was unconstitutional.

Unaffected by the ruling are

1. A 1969 Illinois law eliminating the personal property on one auto and one household of furniture for each family, effective this year.

2. The provision of the new Illinois Constitution—the document which went into effect this month—that the legislature must repeal the personal property tax by January 1979.

3. The state constitutional requirement that a new kind of tax, collected from those who were subject to the personal property tax in January 1971, be imposed by the General Assembly at the time the personal tax is ended.

With the 1970 referendum invalidated, those affected by the new 1979 tax will be much more numerous than had been assumed.

With part of the personal tax on individuals and all of the tax on businesses, again in effect, an unexpected strain has been placed on the current assessing-tax-billing-collecting cycle, which was well under way. Some of the tax work now needs to be done by the end of the whole property tax process this summer may be delayed for weeks or months.

Proving that the pen is mightier if wielded by the right individual, the seven Supreme Court justices overturned the expressed wishes of millions of Illinoisans. The judges' reasoning: "It cannot rationally be said that the prohibition against property taxes on individuals is one set of property owners from the burden of a tax imposed on another set."

David Norton Well-Known, Well-Liked Here

Although a Quad-Citizen only for several years, David L. Norton, who died July 7, was widely known and liked. As executive director of the Tri-Cities United Fund, he had worked closely with and for many service agencies in this region and was instrumental in developing annual "United Fun Fairs."

Mr. Norton also was active here, and in Michigan previously. A husband, father and grandfather, he also was a good citizen and a good neighbor.

Too Many Lack Real Concern for Children and Problems They Face

To the Editor:

Plants usually grow well when planted in good soil and given sufficient amounts of sunshine, water and rain. However, too much of one or the other will result in bad plants.

I ask the reader: Is your child a bad plant, or are you an insufficient provider? Or are you a provider at all? A parent?

These questions are pointedly directed to you, the parents. As hard laborers, hard drinkers, eloquent speakers, participants in worthless gossip, Christians, Sunday morning Christians, advocates of peace and workers of schemes, parents are misusing a treasure.

The treasure being misused and improperly taken care of is God's beloved children of the world—the children who helped build the world.

Children grow up in the world partly by the good example one sets for others, partly by the environment in which they live and greatly by the good love which they feel from their parents and friends.

However, when the only example children can follow is bad, when the walls of industry help create intolerable environments, and when parents fail to show their affection in a way that children can and will want to grasp, then children die. God's children die.

Opposite Positions by Ogilvie, Simon on Highway Bonds May Preview 1972 Campaign

If Lt. Gov. Simon gains the Democratic gubernatorial nomination to oppose Gov. Ogilvie, a Republican, in 1972, there is a ready-made campaign issue for the two to discuss and debate.

The lieutenant governor, in signing the highway bond bill, noted that he did so only because the law mandated that he certify its passage, as Senate president. He assailed the $600 million bond issue as inaugurating $4.8 billion indebtedness. He added:

"With the highest tax on a gallon of gas of any state, when sales tax is included, we have ample resources to have good highways on a pay-as-you-go basis. This year, Illinois will spend more, $488 million, on highway construction and maintenance than any state in the nation, without deficit financing."

"The massive bond issue is just one part of an indefensible, substantial shift to deficit spending. Many buildings currently constructed from current revenue are to be built from bond money. We proliferate authorities which can issue bonds at will, and we don't care if the money they should; the Downstate teacher pension fund has escalated to an actuarial deficiency of $936 million."

"Assuming 6% interest, the $4.8 billion highway plan will have interest of $4.2 billion. How does Illinois pay off $9 billion? Assuming the state gets $50 million to $60 million for each cent of tax on a gallon of gasoline, it will take 14 to 18 years at 10 cents a gallon to pay this kind of indebtedness. Illinois has entered the quicksand of deep financial indebtedness and it will take tough, courageous action to extricate ourselves."

The governor disagrees with this assessment of the outlook and also with the figures. He considers the highway bond program one of the chief pillars of his re-election campaign, and points out that it is focused on providing mass freeways in Lt. Gov. Simon's area, Downstate Illinois.

At least the voters may be able to make a "choice, not an echo" in the 1972 balloting for governor, thanks to the top two officeholders in staking out diametrically opposed positions on this and other subjects.

Re-Cycling Project Launched by Youth Group To Help Improve Quad-City Area Environment

The Youth Environmental Committee of Coordinated Youths Services today launched a program to improve the environment in a direct way—"by re-cycling" newspapers, glass and cans.

The materials will be assembled at a truck at the Namekiki Village Shopping Center between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. each Monday through Saturday.

This and similar projects are a constructive way worthy of public support and participation.

OPPOSES BOND USE FOR TRANSIT OPERATIONS

To the Editor:

I have sent letters to the Chicago Office of Commerce, Illinois Manufacturers' Association, Civic Federation and Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry, urging them to oppose Governor Ogilvie's scheme to pay mass transit deficits out of long-term bond proceeds.

I am in favor of subsidies to prevent fare increase by local mass transit agencies.

In the case of the Chicago Transit Authority, there is enough money in the Chicago motor fuel tax fund so that no state funds would be needed.

But the financing of operating subsidies out of long-term bonds would be a bad precedent and would be a fiscal irresponsibility.

By using bond funds, the citizens of Illinois will be stuck with monumental interest costs. Governor Ogilvie's $32 million subsidy will cost Illinois citizens over $77 million. Additionally, it may have an adverse effect on the state's bond rating.

On Feb. 17, Governor Ogilvie in a special message to the legislature gave five sound reasons why long-term bonds should be used only for capital expenditures. He said he was being sound and prudent because the money will be used for true, basic long-term capital benefits. Why has he changed his mind?

This method of financing is wrong. Our children and grand-

Political Czars of Past Replaced By Tax-Financed Welfare Programs

Last of three articles
By PAUL CORCORAN
Copley News Service

The image of the political boss with his big cigar and flashy ring has been replaced by the image of the social worker and publicly-financed welfare programs which make the taxpayer sometimes flinch. But the boss left a heritage, for better or worse.

James A. Farley, who helped the late Franklin D. Roosevelt twice win election and a man not unsympathetic to the early Big Boss, says this:

"What finished the Big Bosses is primarily that they did the job so well that the immigrant people didn't need them after the first generation."

"The blast furnace of the American Melting Pot is the public school," he told Copley News Service.

"Today, just short of half of the American people are the children of these illiterate immigrants."

In the years prior to the Great Depression of 1929, and until World War II in some instances, both the bosses and national parties exerted influence on the voter.

It was before the era of television and radio exposure, and when many immigrants didn't know enough English to understand the issues or the man who gave them handouts.

Another factor was the absence of the woman's vote until 1920.

When women won the franchise, millions voted without regard to their husbands' influence.

The change in allegiance has not been instantaneous, but it has happened at more rapid rate than ever before.

Few political leaders anticipated the change, however.

A poll of state party organizations indicated that not only were bosses disappearing, but both Democratic and Republican organizations expressed lively little pressure over the selection and election of candidates.

The erosion of the power of political organizations has compelled each of the major parties to pick a candidate who cannot be labeled as a politician," said Leonard Hall, former Republican National Committee chairman and still active as a New York City attorney.

He also made this point about New York, and it is true for many other state organizations:

"In this state, there is very little difference between the Republican organization and the Democratic organization."

"Neither amounts to very much so far as vote-pulling power is concerned."

"The candidate wins who possesses the charisma that will bring to his side the independent voters."

"Generally speaking, the successful party organization is one as strong as whatever strength it may derive from the successful candidate for governor."

It is a far cry from the days of Jim Farley, whose political career spans the era of the bosses, F. D. R., and the charismatic cycle.

Farley does not believe the change spells the best of things for political parties or the nation, however.

"The Big Boss was on the keen lookout for talent," said Farley.

"A poor boy, if he wanted to work, was given a chance. That's where the Democratic Party came in."

"Al Smith, Senator Bob Wagner, President Henry S. Truman, President Lyndon B. Johnson, were all poor lads."

"So was I, and I have never stopped saying that if it was not for the Democratic Party, I would never have been its chairman, or a Cabinet officer, or a general, and my honors came to me for personal service."

The amount of money spent on campaigns is a serious concern not only of the elected official, but of the media, and the general public.

Since the 1970 election, in which some of the candidates who spent the most were defeated, there has been a considerable soul searching about the value of expensive campaigns.

Even those who won, including new Sen. John Tunney of California, found it expensive.

The Tunney-for-senator committee found itself with a $800,000 deficit despite its victory. His example is almost identical to those of candidates in almost every other state.

Farley, expansive and knowledgeable on politics of all shades, said he deplored the vast sums of money spent in campaigns.

"It is shutting the poor boys out."

"The television cameras will focus on a student, but I defy anyone to come up with any coverage of the Young Democrats or Young Republicans, giving them the same attention as the old bosses did."

"The high cost of campaigning is driving talent out of both parties, else the old bosses and their immense disadvantage of the public."

Farley's point of view may be challenged by some experts in politics and media.

But he concludes on a note that may be the last word on the era of political bosses, and the preface of the age of the independent voter.

"If it hadn't been for the Big Bosses, believe me, the basic legislation of F. D. R., which put the liberals in the political business, and put the Big Bosses out of it, couldn't have been passed without the Big Bosses themselves."

"I handled that legislation for the President and I know this as no man other than he knew better."

Surety Bonds New Levee Board Problem

County Clerk Dan Ring of St. Clair county has refused to accept $10,000 surety bonds submitted last week by three St. Clair county members of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District. The board members, Morris Campbell, George Duff and Lawrence Tolar, attempted to file the bonds after it was disclosed the bonds had been on file in the levee board of offices and never submitted for court approval.

Miss Eulalia Hotz, Madison county clerk, has accepted a similar bond submitted by William "Mike" Ebersold of Venice, the only Madison county representative on the levee board. She said, however, that the bond has not yet been approved by the circuit court and that she has requested a legal opinion from the state's attorney's office as to procedure.

The levee board members, now under conviction on misconduct charges, have served since their election in November, 1968. They were ordered removed from office following their conviction last fall, but remain in office under an Appellate Court order staying their removal pending appeal of the conviction.

Ex-Gov. Stratton on Remap Commission

Leaders of both the Republican and Democrat parties in the General Assembly have completed appointments to the 1971 Legislative Redistricting Commission. Secretary of State John W. Lewis announced Friday.

The appointments were filed with the Index Division of the Secretary of State's office. The Commission is charged with re-districting the state's legislative districts as provided in the Constitution of 1970, and to file the maps by July 10 to complete the assignment.

Appointments by Speaker of the House of Representatives, W. Robert Blair, Park Forest, J.

3 Slain Men Suspects In Shooting of Nurse

Three men found slain in a gangland style along Route 170 near the Route 202 interchange early Friday may have been the trio that shot and seriously wounded an East St. Louis nurse in her apartment earlier this week, East St. Louis police reported Saturday.

The murdered men, all Negroes, were identified as Arthur Lee Watson of East St. Louis and Frank and Jack Slaughter of Chicago, all in their early 30s.

Identification was made by three SIU-SW students who said Watson was a student at SIU-SW. Officials at the university said Frank Slaughter was registered at SIU-SW during the spring term, but they could find no record of Watson.

The first of the three bodies was found by St. Clair county sheriff's deputies about 2 a.m. Friday after they received a call from a truck driver. While investigating, the officers found two other bodies who only partially clothed. All had been shot a number of times authorities said.

Recycling One Answer
Environmentalists say that Americans use about 30 per cent of the world's natural resources, while comprising only 6% of the world's population.

Recycling appears to be one answer to conserving our resources, MacMillan said. He noted that Owens-Illinois Glass Corp. at Alton, was one of the first area firms to accept bottles for recycling.

The company now takes in excess of 100,000 pounds of glass each week for processing, the CYS officer said. A spokesman for a St. Louis glass company that recently began accepting glass jars and bottles, commented that much of the glass will be made into new bottles, but also can be used as an ingredient in asphalt.

Stratton, who is named as a public member, is a former Illinois governor who was credited with a 1954 compromise that led to the first Illinois legislative reapportionment.

Sen. Clarke was the first to announce his own and Stratton's appointment following a Republican caucus attended by 13 of 20 GOP senators Thursday afternoon.

Stratton authored the 1954 constitutional amendment which brought the first reapportionment of Illinois districts since 1901, but it later was declared unconstitutional because Senate districts were based on area, while House districts were based on population.

Appointments by Minority Leader of the Senate, W. Russell Arrington; Senator Terrell E. Clark, Western Springs; Former Governor William G. Stratton.

Ecology Youth Group Opens Recycling Program Today

Recycling already is a way of life in thousands of households across the United States and the opportunity to join the nationwide ecology effort to reduce litter and conserve natural resources is now offered local residents.

Newspapers, bottles and cans which are three specific items which will be accepted by area plants for the recycling process—are being accumulated from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday at the Namekigi Village shopping center parking area.

The recycling trend appears to be gathering momentum as families become increasingly aware of the penalties of living in a polluted environment and the urgent need to find new ways of disposing of the mountain of solid waste produced daily by the organizers of the program said.

Area householders wishing to take part in the "Help Save the Environment" program are asked to bring any quantity of the three items to be recycled to a truck, located in the Namekigi Village parking lot, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 6 p.m.

The community-wide recycling project is under the sponsorship of the Youth Environmental Committee of the Coordinated Youth Services.

Members of the young people's group will be stationed daily at the truck to accept newspapers, cans and bottles, and to assist those delivering the items, according to C. A. "Mac" MacMillan, CYS executive director.

Environmentalists say that Americans use about 30 per cent of the world's natural resources, while comprising only 6% of the world's population.

Recycling appears to be one answer to conserving our resources, MacMillan said. He noted that Owens-Illinois Glass Corp. at Alton, was one of the first area firms to accept bottles for recycling.

Democrats Plan No Formal Day At State Fair

By JERRY OWENS
Copy News Service

Springfield — For the second straight year, Illinois Democrats plan no formal observance of Democratic Day at the State Fair.

The Democratic state organization failed to stage their traditional fair program. The reason given (though it was before Amtrak's advent), the high cost of gate admission and the fact that their state convention was being held the same day in downtown Springfield.

It was well known, however, that the party didn't want to participate in the Republican-controlled fair.

Governor's Day Aug. 18
Republicans, on the other hand, will as usual hold Gov. Governor's Day. This year it is on Wednesday, Aug. 18.

The GOP state committee met Friday to make arrangements for the program.

State GOP Chairman Victor Smith says state leaders, led by Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, will be featured. So leading out-of-state notables will be invited because they might take some of the spotlight away from the locals.

"We want to make use of our own people," Smith comments. Other Republicans to be spotlighted are Attorney Gen. William Scott and Supreme Court Clerk Justin Taff. U. S. Sen. Charles Percy will attend if he can, but he may be out of the country at the time.

Incidentally, the GOP state central committee also discussed party finances at the Chicago meeting. The party reportedly is strapped for funds—a perennial problem of both parties and their candidates.

Three young boys apparently used a key to a rear door to gain entry into the home of Earl Rushing, 2428 Madison Ave., at 5:30 p.m. Friday. The key had been hidden outside the house.

The Rushings' daughter said she was watching television when she heard noises in a basement bedroom. Upon investigating she came upon the 3 young boys who ran out of the basement, dropping the key and also an envelope containing $11.25.

After their flight, nothing else appeared to be missing, Miss Rushing said.
